Moving can be stressful. Moving can mean a new city, a new home, a new school and new friends.

So, how do you handle all the new stuff you'll face when moving?

You get smart and get prepared!

Most of us have moved at least once during our life. With every move we make, we learn something to help us with the next move.

Today, we're going to collect tips from real experts on moving — ourselves!

STEP ONE

Let's brainstorm tips that can help us before, during and after a move. For example, before a move, you might read about the new town you'll be living in. You could find out about the geography, the weather and other things to help prepare you.

If you have a tip about moving, raise your hand and we'll call on you. Be sure to write all the tips on your worksheet.

STEP TWO

Take your worksheet home and use the tips you wrote down to prepare for a move. Because with the right preparation, you'll make your move a success!
